

Oak Meadow Primary School Weekly Newsletter - Friday 13th September 2024: Issue 2

A message from Mr. Lane...

As the second week draws to a close, and the children complete their first full week of the school year, I find it hard to believe we have not been back much longer! I write this with overwhelming positivity for the way children have seamlessly transitioned into their new Year groups, continuing to show exemplary behaviour and attitude in their approach. The greatest strength of our school is, and always will be, the wonderful relationships we have built. I would like to extend thanks to all of you who attended our Meet the Teacher event this week with a reminder that presentations are available on our website if you were unable to make it. Looking forward, all staff extra-curricular clubs will begin next week, and I know classes will 'rise to the challenge' of National Fitness Day! Take care everyone and enjoy a lovely weekend.

What is Exploitation?

A guide for parents and carers

Exploitation explained

Child Exploitation is something you may have heard about in the media. It can be worrying for you as parents and carers to think about your child, or a child you know, at risk of being exploited. You might find yourself in shock or denial or feel a range of emotions such as feelings of anger, guilt, upset, fear, confusion, helplessness, embarrassment, and/or depression. These feelings and reactions are normal and understandable for parents and carers. It is crucial to remember you are not to blame for your child's exploitation, your child is not to blame, they have been targeted and often manipulated or coerced by criminals.

Understanding what child exploitation means, can help to protect your child if you ever think they're in danger.

The MASH allows professionals to share information and carry out joint, confidential screening so that vulnerable children are identified and are properly cared for and protected. Children and young people come to our attention in a variety of ways.

This may be because:

- a parent or carer may want to request support directly
- a professional may feel a family need help or have concerns in relation to a child
- a child or their family come into contact with the police
- a child tells someone about abuse either emotional, physical or sexual

If you are worried about your child or another child that could be at risk, please contact our Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub (MASH) on 01902 555392. For any out of hours emergencies, contact the Emergency Duty Services on 01902 552999.

In an emergency, where a child is at immediate risk, dial 999.

Do you suspect potential exploitation in your community?

Information you provide about possible exploitation in your community helps us understand child exploitation in Wolverhampton and allows West Midlands Police and Children's Services to work together to safeguard children and make our communities a safer place to live.

If anyone is at risk of immediate harm: Call 999

To share non-urgent information: Call 101 or visit the section on west-midlands.police.uk/contact-us

To report information anonymously: Call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111 or visit crimestoppers-uk.org

Over the page, you will find further support services and contact details of organisations that can help you if you are worried about your child as a parent or carer.

Understanding types of exploitation

Child Criminal Exploitation is a type of abuse where a child or young person is taken advantage of by being manipulated and given things like gifts, drugs, money, status and affection, usually in exchange for carrying out criminal activity.

Child Sexual Exploitation is a type of sexual abuse. It involves coercing, manipulating, or pressuring a child into sexual activity.

Children can be taken to places in and outside of Wolverhampton to be exploited and this is known as Trafficking. They can be moved around different places in the country and abused by being forced to take part in criminal or sexual activities.

Exploitation can also happen online even if no physical contact has taken place.

Online Exploitation is where young people are coerced to send indecent images or share sensitive information which can be used to force them into sexual or criminal activity.

It is often recognised that these risks are out in the community, rather than within the family home. This is known as Contextual Safeguarding.

What happens if your child is at risk of being exploited?

The earlier we can all work together and spot the signs, the more we can put in place to safeguard, prevent, and protect children and young people. If a child/young person is identified as a potential victim of exploitation, then a referral to children's services is required so that parents/carers, the child, and professionals can create a plan to disrupt the exploitation and identify locations and perpetrators causing harm to your child/young person.

A Multi-Agency Safeguarding Hub (MASH) is a co-located team which brings together agencies and their information, in order to identify risks to and needs of children at the earliest possible point and respond with the most effective and joined up actions.
